

STUDENT INFORMATION EVENING FOR 2012 HONOURS, MASTERS OR PHD STUDENTS - NATIONAL DRUG RESEARCH INSTITUTE

Thursday 13th October 2011, 4.30pm-6.30pm

National Drug Research Institute
Curtin University Health Research Campus
Level 2, 10 Selby Street, Shenton Park

Looking for an honours or masters topic? Interested in research or work in the alcohol and other drugs field?

Opportunities for honours and postgraduate research, and casual work in the alcohol and other drugs field, will be outlined at the National Drug Research Institute's (NDRI) annual Student Information Evening.

The informal evening is for 2012 Honours, Masters or PhD students interested in researching drug or alcohol issues or looking for a research topic.

The evening will allow students to meet and talk about opportunities for research projects with prospective co-supervisors in a relaxed atmosphere. Opportunities for part-time and voluntary research work will also be discussed.

Recently-completed NDRI postgrad students and early career researchers will outline the projects they have worked on and the path they have taken to begin careers in the alcohol and other drugs field.

Attendees will also receive a brief snapshot of the work NDRI does and information on scholarships available. Competitive research bursaries may be offered to support student research.

Light refreshments will be served.

To find out more about NDRI, go to ndri.curtin.edu.au or to RSVP email ndri@curtin.edu.au or call (08) 9266 1600.

GETTING TO NDRI

NDRI is located at Curtin's Health Research Campus, at 10 Selby Street in Shenton Park.

To get to the Information Evening, turn off Selby St into Ellis Griffiths Drive and follow the signs to the Curtin Health Research Campus.

The NDRI seminar room is on level 2.

Student, Staff and Visitor parking is available.

NDRI is also 5 minutes walk down Selby Street from the Shenton Park railway station, and on the 'circle route' bus service.
